

SPI Software Honored at GNEX Conference

Miami, FL – June 2021 / Newsmaker Alert / The GNEX 2021 Conference recently held in Miami, Florida, recognized SPI – the vacation ownership industry's preferred software developer – with two esteemed awards for its products and service. Presented at the finale of the conference, the 11th annual Perspective Magazine Awards named Gordon McClendon, Vice President, SPI Software, Best Industry Leader and Stephen Green, SPI's Director of Sales and Marketing, Best Newcomer.

Highly respected within the hospitality industry, the program recognizes companies and individuals for their achievements within the vacation ownership industry during the past year. Operated by Perspective Magazine, the global recognition program highlights excellence throughout many sectors of the vacation ownership and hospitality industry. Other esteemed winners this year include Westgate Resorts, Wyndham Destinations, and John Spence from the Karma Group. SPI partners' Capital Vacations and El Cid Vacation Club were also honored with Best Customer Satisfaction awards.

"We are thrilled with the recognition from the Perspective program," said Stephen Green. "This is the fourth consecutive year SPI has been honored. While we are globally respected for our vacation ownership software, it is significant to also be recognized for the services our team provides. SPI is much more than a software provider. We are consultants, experts, and partners in our clients' success. We strive to be a partner and thought leader, while focusing on the human elements necessary to help our partners succeed."

For the past four decades, SPI Software has remained the preferred supplier of vacation ownership properties by providing software solutions and exceptional customer service. Our flexibility has enabled us to adapt to constant changes, not only with software advancements, but in the cultural and personnel requirements customers face today.
